will these bones
remain pale and prostrate in the valley? they say
offerings to the vague terrain can activate ancestral mingling. their
scattered refrain is an incubator for
descendants
vulnerable and weak.
for destinies
arrested, interrupted,
or tears mustered as speech. – we die, we live, we rot, we be.
consumed by this ground. A product of taking and recall. both spectacle and legacy.
Letters. fractured
messages litter this wilderness fermenting with strange fruit of
mimicry, rejection,
refinement. Entwining
and entwining and
troubling the liminal
depths. hum and harmonise with my
dead. this graveyard's
a family tree. and displaced bodies in displace can terraform holy,
healing spaces for
grief. – bathe me in earth once again. i'll return, through the portal i breached, to the beginning where there was only
blackness. such freedom, i have faith
i can reach. Roots
are forming, taking hold as we build
myself up, gradually.
dark matter sculpted
to steward the void,
adding to the great
chain, piece by piece.
